

When You Need Comprehensive Site Location Results - Investor Owned Utilities Can Make It Happen

Utility Economic Development Association

The Utility Economic Development Association is your direct connection to nearly 200 economic developers around the world. It offers you individualized professional support and access to the extensive resources of investor owned electric and gas utilities: a spectrum of assistance that reaches well beyond energy rates and reliability.

The UEDA is an international association of investor owned utility economic development professionals and allies. The association:

- Serves as a conduit for site selectors to UEDA members
- Disseminates specialized utility economic development information
- Conducts advanced economic development education courses
- Creates semi-annual networking and educational forums
- Conducts economic development research
