Utility Impact of Federal Regulation - Part 1

Robin J. Lunt - Assistant General Counsel

National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC)

Robin J. Lunt is the Assistant General Counsel for the National Association of Regulatory Utility Commissioners (NARUC) where she handles the energy side of the association's legal and policy work before federal agencies such as FERC, DOE, EPA and the federal courts.

NARUC is the national association representing the State Public Service Commissioners who regulate essential utility services, including energy, telecommunications, and water. NARUC members are responsible for assuring reliable utility service at fair, just, and reasonable rates. Founded in 1889, the Association is an invaluable resource for its members and the regulatory community, providing a venue to set and influence public policy, share best practices, and foster innovative solutions to improve regulation.

Robin directly supports NARUC's Electricity Committee, the Energy Resources and Environment Committee, the Gas Committee, the Subcommittee on Nuclear Issues, Environmental Coordinating Committee, Smart Grid Working Group and the FERC-NARUC Smart Response Collaborative.

Prior to joining NARUC in February of 2009, Robin worked a Washington DC law firm working on offshore wind development, environmental insurance and environmental law.

Robin graduated magna cum laude from Brigham Young University Law School, where she published a law review article on Renewable Portfolio Standards. During law school she spent a summer studying in Madrid, Spain and a semester in Budapest, Hungary at Central European University. In her spare time, she and her husband Scott try to keep up with their toddler, Oliver.
